About the trip

When planning this journey together with my family we were looking for a warm sunny destination. But of course I also want to have possibility to do some birdwatching activities. We booked a one week charter trip from Ving and choose Sunset Beach Hotel. At that point I was not aware that several of nice bird sites were located nearby the hotel.

Guide

My workmate Anders Dahl recommended the guide Ebrima Njie they had on their trip to the Gambia 2005. I contacted Ebrima and we made a plan for our visit. My main focus was to photographing different species and Ebrima made a very good program with different kind of sites that gave good opportunities to find many species. With five half days bird watching plus a few extra hours I recorded 160 species of which 132 was new for me. I was very happy with the guiding Ebrima assisted me with during our trip. Other places we visited

In addition to the tours with Ebrima we visited the capital Banjul and were guided around the town. We looked at the fabric marked and the tailors that sew cloth of the fabrics. Then we visited Albert Market with fish, food, craft works and other things.

The Katchikally Sacred Crocodile pool is located close to Bakau. There was a small museum with some historical and cultural information that was interesting. The pool contains over hundred crocodile that were fed with 250 kg fish every day. For tourists it's popular to take pictures while stoking the back of a crocodile, the guides ensure that they never attack humans! Actually we also found some birds and around the pool there was a Hamerkop and if I understand it right they use to nest there.

Sites

Abuko Nature Reserve

This is the first area that was given protection of the wild life in the Gambia. The combination of mature forest and some freshwater pools makes the site very interesting. There is good view over pool from Darwin Field School and we found the Giant Kingfisher, African Pygmy Kingfisher, African Jacana, African Darter and Palm-nut Vulture. Along the track in the forest we found both Violet and Green Turaco and many other birds like Oriole Warbler, Gray-headed Bristlebill and different Sunbirds.

In the other end of the reserve there are Animal Orphanages with Hyenas, Baboons and big turtles. There is also a small photo hide with a small pool. We had to ask if they could open it for us and if they want 100 dahlas (20 SEK) for access it. It was very good with a lot of small birds like Red-billed Firefinch, Bronze Mannakin, Sunbirds and Weavers.

Kotu area

Around Kotu there are several of places for good birding.

Kotu bridge is a central point for birdwatchers. At the north side of the bridge Gambian Birdwatching association have a shelter with several of bird guides available for guided tours. Behind the shelter there is a photo hide that is one of the best places to see the Oriole Warbler. I visited the hide few time and saw the Oriole Warbler one time and every time there was at least one Blue-breasted Kingfisher. Other observations were Snowy-crowned Robin-Chat and White-crowned Robin-Chat. From the bridge a number of waders can be seen such as Senegal Thick-knee and Black-winged stilts. The Pied Kingfisher is common in this area and both the Wire-tailed swallows and Red-cheasted swallows use to be around the bridge. On the rice fields east of the bridge we found Little Bee-eaters, Senegal Coucals, Blake Crake, several kinds of herons.

Along the Kotu Casino Cycle track we found several of heron in the rice fields and also Sacred Ibis. In the palm trees we spotted a pair of Blue-bellied Rollers and there were also Green Wood-hoopoes, Piapiacs and Rose-ringed Parakeets. Groups of African Palm-Swifts flew over the area. At the start of the Casino track there is a building on the left hand and just after the wall finished there is a small track to the left that lead to a small pool. We found a group Long-tailed Cormorants, a Black Heron and Black-winged Stilt. Close to the pool a Double-spurred Francoline showed on a wall and a group of Green Wood-hoopoes played around.

The Kotu Sewage pounds held a lot of Black-winged Stilts but we also saw a Sacred Ibis there. In the bushes and trees in the east end of the pounds we found a number of birds like Rose-ringed Parakeets, Senegal Parrots, Fork-tailed Drongo and Namaqua Dove.

An early morning walk we checked the area of the Fajara Golf Course and found two Giant Kingfishers close to pounds around Kotu Creek. Around the Golf Course we found an African Harrier-Hawk and Yellow-billed Shrike.

Brufut Woods

The woodland is quite open and easy to spot the birds. Ebrima had arranged with a local guide that assisted us. We found a great number of birds here especially small birds like warblers, weavers and finches while walking around the area. Within a time frame of a half hour we saw three different species of Woodpeckers. Some of the highlights were Long-tailed Nightjar and we also got a glimpse of a Verreux's Eagle Owl that was really difficult to spot.

Tujering Birding Site

We first visited a coastal lagoon that includes two habitats, a large open lagoon with sand edges and a river like wetland. It was a very good area with a lot of birds and we found several of heron species including the Black-headed heron. Among many species we found African Green Pigeon, African Golden Oriole, Purple Glossy-Starling, Greater Blue-eared Gloss-Starling and Lizard Buzzard.

The other part is the woodland area. Along the track we found species like Klaas's Cuckoo, Striped Kingfisher, Senegal Batis and Namaqua Dove. In the more open parts we found White-fronted Black-Chat and White-shouldered Black Tit.

Tanji Beach

On the way back from Tujering we made a short stop at Tanji Beach primarily to look for pelicans. There were a group of Pink-backed Pelicans but we also some Royal Terns together with a large group of Caspian Terns.

Lamin Lodge

When arriving to the lodge in the morning we went for a two hours trip on Gambia river along the mangroves. It was not so many birds along the river but we found Royal Tern, Mouse-brown sunbird, Blue-breasted Kingfisher, Palm-nut Vulture and African Darter. During the boat trip we made a short stop and looked at a Elephant Tree and we also found a Shikra.

In the surroundings of the lodge we found several of interesting species like Rufous-crowned Roller, Bearded Barbet, Blue-cheeked Bee-eater, Gray Kestrel and Pearl-spotted Owlet.

Pearl-spotted Owlet

Cape Point Creek

We made a short stop at Cape Point Creek after the visit to Lamin Lodge. There are two big ponds one on each side of the road. As soon as we stopped we saw two Greater Flamingos. There were also several of Pied Kingfishers and we also saw a Gull-billed Tern.

Bunto, Farasuto Forest and Pirang

Bunto and Farasuto Forest are two small forests in the country and is situated close to the river and some farmland.

We started in Bunto Forest and we joined another group of guided birdwatchers. The main attraction was the White-spotted Flufftail that showed briefly. Unfortunately the pace for this group was quite slow and the conditions for photographing were limited. Before we left the group we spotted a Verreaux's Eagle Owl. Then we continue to a place close to Pirang and found another owl, a Grayish Eagle Owl. Unfortunately the time had gone quick and the visit in Farasuto Forest was not so long. One of the highlights was the Sulphur-breasted Bushshrike. There was a small pond on one edge of the forest where there was a white Senegal Thick-knee.
